

Melodic Legacy Ignite Champion Checklist

Share about the membership on your blog

Let people know about the new membership opportunity and what it makes available to them.

Remember, if you don't have a blog, you can start one on Blogger, LiveJournal, HubPages, or even Medium.

You can also create as many Blogger blogs as you want.

Ask others to share about the membership on their blog

Be bold and ask others with relevant music business blogs to share about the new membership. Don't just go after the big guys – go after the smaller ones who are more engaged.

Share about the membership on your podcast

You can even ask me to be on your show.

Ask others to share about the membership on their podcasts

Be bold and ask others with relevant music business podcasts to share about the new membership. Don't just go after the big guys – go after the smaller ones who are more engaged.

❑ Share about the membership in a YouTube video

You can even ask me to be on your show.

Don't forget – there are other great places to upload your videos to these days – Vimeo, Odysee, Rokfin, Rumble, BitChute, and Brighteon.

❑ Ask others to share about the membership on their YouTube videos

Be bold and ask others with relevant YouTube channels to share about the new membership. Don't just go after the big guys – go after the smaller ones who are more engaged.

❑ Share about the membership on your socials

Facebook, Instagram, Twitter, Pinterest, Tumblr, LinkedIn, Snapchat, TikTok, Clubhouse, Mix, VK, Parler, Brighteon.Social, Minds, MeWe, Gab, Telegram, etc.

You can even use low-cost tools like OnlyWire to post across 20 socials at once!

❑ Ask others to share about the membership on their socials

Be bold and ask others with relevant music business socials to share about the new membership. Don't just go after the big guys – go after the smaller ones who are more engaged.

❑ Share about the membership in an email

Plenty of people buy via email.

❑ Ask others to share about the membership in their emails

Some influencers have BIG email lists!

Be bold and ask others with relevant music business socials to share about the new membership. Don't just go after the big guys – go after the smaller ones who are more engaged.

Go make a mess! 🙌

Don't worry about trying to do this perfectly. Just get the word out! Thank you for your support.